

Eliminate Crossing On Saugerties Road

Public Service Commission Orders Elimination of Crossing Near City Limits and Substitution of Overhead Crossing With 40-Foot Roadway—Estimated Cost Outside of Land and Property Damage $144,000.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Elimination of the Saugerties-Kingston highway crossing of the New York Central tracks, about two miles north of Kingston, was ordered by the Public Service Commission Monday by closing the present crossing and carrying the highway over the railroad about 140 feet north of the present crossing, substantially as provided in the plan filed at the hearing on June 26 last, except as modified by the commission Monday.

There is to be an overhead crossing with a forty foot roadway and a five foot walk on the southeast side, approaches graded for 55 feet and surfaced for forty feet. The railroad is directed to prepare the necessary detail plans for submission to the commission and to do the work. The estimated cost of the work, outside of land and property damage, is $144,000.

The state plans to immediately reconstruct the existing Saugerties-Kingston highway to a width of thirty feet and within the next ten years the state anticipates that traffic needs will require a further widening to forty feet which will be the width of the highway on the overhead bridge.

State and Property Owners Objected. At the hearing held before H. W. Williams, public service engineer, at the court house here on June 26, objection was made on the part of the State Department of Public Works as well as by several property owners to the plan prepared and presented by the New York Central railroad engineers for the elimination of the Saugerties road grade crossing, just outside the city limits.

The estimated cost of the plan as laid out by the railroad was $164,400, exclusive of land and damage claims. The railroad contended at that time that the plan of the department of Public Works would cost much more, which was denied by the State Department. F. W. Burleigh, who appeared for the State department, objected to the railroad plan on the specific grounds that it called for the injection in the elimination of curves, which the department was endeavoring to eliminate. The plan, he said, called for 500 foot radius curves which were too sharp and gained nothing from the viewpoint of the traveling public. He also objected to the width of the roadway on the overpass and said it was a waste of time and money to build overhead crossing of a lesser width than forty feet.

Mr. Burleigh also objected to the grade called for by the railroad plan which calls for a six per cent grade while the department plan calls for a five per cent grade. William W. Van Keuren objected to the plan which called for the roadway being moved to the east of the present highway as he said it spoiled a factory site he owned. The plan called for the present highway to be at the site of the present highway. The plan would involve a great amount of property damage.

What Railroad Plan Provides. By the plans of the railroad as submitted at the hearing the present roadway would be closed to traffic which would be diverted to the new bridge which would be located north of the present crossing. The plan called for a 30 foot structure crossing the tracks at a height of 22 feet. The highway approaches would be graded to a width of 22 feet between shoulders of the embankment and paved to a width of 18 feet with water bound bituminous macadam. Cable guide rails three feet high would be provided and curves would be widened beyond the 15 foot width. The overpass would start 580 feet east of the present grade crossing and veer to the north. The return to the present roadway on the west approach would be 670 feet west of the present grade crossing where it would follow the present roadway. The grade on the approaches would be 5 per cent.

The plan submitted by the State department at a prior hearing called for a similar structure but would eliminate curves on the overpass by taking advantage of present curves in the roadway. That plan called for a bridge to leave the roadway at a present location at the curve to the west of the tracks at a

Cashdollar Dies At Hospital After Automobile Crash

Harold Cashdollar of Woodstock Dies Monday Evening, Second Victim of Crash Earlier in Day Near Riskey Farm House—Companion Was Killed Instantly.

Harold Cashdollar of Woodstock died Monday evening at the Benedictine Hospital where he was taken following an automobile crash shortly after noon Monday on the West Hurley-Woodstock highway. Mrs. Clifford Frazier of High Falls was instantly killed when a Studebaker touring car with a winter top crashed into a pole after the machine had left the road a short distance south of the bridge near the Riskey Farm House. At the scene of the accident there is a slight bend in the road. The car had negotiated the turn but after making the turn it failed to straighten out on the roadway. The car left the road, crossing over toward the side of the road and then struck the rocks off the shoulder of the highway, and after running a distance crashed into a telephone pole along the road. Mrs. Frazier was instantly killed when her neck was broken and she suffered other severe injuries. Cashdollar is thought to have been driving, although others who were at the scene immediately after the crash believed Mrs. Frazier had been at the wheel. Cashdollar was very severely injured, his skull being fractured and his left hand being practically severed. He suffered from shock and remained unconscious. He was rushed to the Benedictine Hospital and Dr. Mortimer B. Downer, Jr., of Woodstock was summoned. He with Dr. Mark O'Meara of this city attended the injured man at the hospital but there was no hope for his recovery. Cashdollar was 27 years old.

Mrs. Frazier, who before marriage was Ruth Wolfen, formerly resided in this city. She was 29 years old. Coroner W. N. Conner who was summoned made an investigation and then turned the body of Mrs. Frazier over to Undertaker Norvin R. Lasher of Saugerties.

Sheriff Rice was at the scene a few minutes after the accident happened and State Troopers were also on the scene.

The Studebaker car bore license 2X6719 registered in the name of William F. Primley of Shulds Corners.

Dry Agents Seize Trucks, Arrest 5

Mack Truck, Containing 50 Drums of Alleged Alcohol and Studebaker Truck With Alleged Beer Taken By Local Agents.

Agents from the Kingston enforcement office cooperating with State Troopers from Monroe seized at Tuxedo a five ton Bulldog Mack truck which it is alleged contained about 50 drums of alcohol. The driver, a man named Roehes of 154 Front street, Port Jervis, and two assistants, Jack Fisher of 45 East Main street, Port Jervis, and W. L. Moore of 25 Brooklyn street, Port Jervis, were placed under arrest and all three were held in $500 bail each by Justice of the Peace Pringle at Tuxedo for appearance on October 11 before U. S. Commissioner Cottes of New York city.

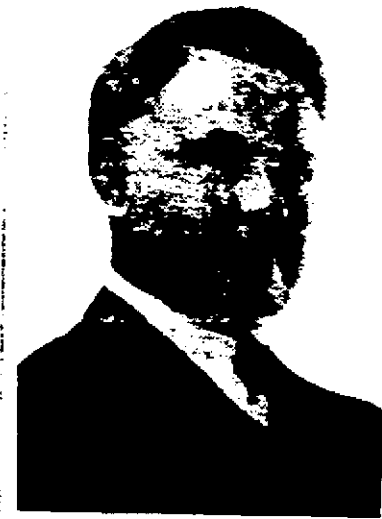

At the time of the arrest the agents were working with Corporal Tanner and Trooper Bolland. The truck was very cleverly camouflaged with packages of glassware which were piled on the rear of the truck to hide the drums from view.

Cooperating with the agents from the Albany office the agents from the local office seized a Studebaker truck Monday three miles outside of Hudson on the Hudson-Claverack road. The truck contained a quantity of alleged "high power" beer. The driver of the truck, gave his address as 238 Columbia street, Hudson. DeWitt Van Buren of 248 Columbia street, Hudson, was also arrested. The truck was held in $1,500 bail by Judge Kaufman of Hudson and Van Buren was held in $500 for appearance later before U. S. Commissioner A. C. Connolly here.

way to the east at a curve beyond the tracks. Not only would there be no appreciable curve to the overpass but the two turns now in the road would be taken advantage of and eliminated. It would call for a slightly different structure over the tracks than that proposed by the railroad. This the railroad contended would be more costly.

H. E. Thomas for Hoover Studies County Treasurer Plans for His New York Visit

Republican Candidate Has Made Good Record and Shows Exceptional Qualifications for Important Office—Some of His Achievements.

HERBERT E. THOMAS.

Herbert E. Thomas, Republican candidate for the office of county treasurer of the county of Ulster, was born in the city of Kingston and educated in the public schools of the city. Early in life he started to work and since he was 11 years of age he has made his way in the world. Today he is one of the most popular of the younger business men of the city, having in charge the C. M. Thomas Sons printing establishment on Crown street.

The Republican party showed its confidence in him as one of the progressive young men of the first ward of the city when he was nominated for the office of supervisor from that ward on two occasions and each time he was elected receiving substantial majorities well above the usual Republican majorities of the ward.

As supervisor from the first ward during his first term in office he served as a member of four important supervisors' committees. This fact is rather unusual for a first term member of the board and shows the confidence which the board had in his ability. During his term as supervisor he was active in promoting the best interests not only of the city but of the county towns as well and the county at large.

Helped Keep Roads Open. As chairman of the purchase and maintenance of highway machinery and equipment committees Mr. Thomas was active in securing the tractors and snow plows used in keeping the important county highways open during the winter months. The importance of keeping open highways during the winter season was realized by Mr. Thomas who although a resident of Kingston could readily understand the difficulties which come upon the country dweller in the winter. The mercantile trade of the city and the rural population were both well served.

Again when the matter of a new tuberculosis hospital came up for action Mr. Thomas was deeply interested in a suitable site for such a hospital and while not a member of the committee he gave of his time to go out with the committee and work with the committee toward the securing of a suitable site.

Supports Good Roads. As a motorist of several years' experience Mr. Thomas realized the importance of good roads and supported resolutions in reference to highway matters which tended to bring the rural and city people closer together. He always took an active part in and supported legislation of interest to the farmers.

During his second term he was elected chairman of the board of auditors of the board of supervisors. Mr. Thomas's ability has been demonstrated in many ways. His activities in all civic matters has given him full knowledge of city and county affairs. Of pleasing personality, Mr. Thomas during many years has come in contact with the people of the city and county and their experience with him redounds to his credit.

Has Demonstrated His Ability. The office of county treasurer requires an able representative and Mr. Thomas fills the requirements. His experience and ability assures a county treasurer who can be depended on to protect fully all matters pertaining to that office and serve the people of the county in the best possible manner.

Some of His Activities. As a lover of the great outdoors he has for many years been a camper. He is a member of the Ulster County Fish and Game Association, also a member of the Ulster County Gun Club.

Mr. Thomas also is a member of the T. M. U. A. Kingston Chapter of Commerce, Automobile Club of Ulster County, Merchants' Credit Association, Ulster County Chapter, American Red Cross, City of Kingston Hospital and has been prominent in fraternal circles. Since the founding of the Ulster County Farm Bureau and the Home Bureau Mr. Thomas has been an active member. The present offices of the Home Bureau on Wall street were secured through his efforts.

Busy Day Planned With Conference Before His Delivery of Address in Madison Square Garden—Urged to Make Personal Visit to Northwestern Wheat Section.

Washington, Oct. 9 (AP).—Herbert Hoover had before him for approval today a tentative schedule for his one-day visit to New York city on October 22, when he will deliver the fourth and last of his set campaign addresses in the eastern section of the country.

The draft was prepared in New York city by party leaders in conference with George Akerson, personal assistant to the Republican candidate. It called for a busy day, including conferences with political managers before the visit to Madison Square Garden where the address will be delivered.

The excursion into the home city of the Democratic presidential candidate will be less strenuous than that to be made to Boston at the beginning of next week, a journey which calls for overnight rides in going to and returning from the Massachusetts metropolis.

After his New York address, Hoover will return to Washington to remain perhaps a week before packing up for his journey across the continent. During which he will deliver at least one major address. He has stated that he will not add to his eastern itinerary. His last days here will be devoted to final directions for the closing drives in the campaign.

Sectors Want to See Hoover. Just now the nominee is dividing his time between preparation of his Boston address and conferences with his closest advisers as to strategy and policies during this, the most intensive part of the presidential fight. There are indications that renewed efforts will be made in a number of sectors from which have come reports of situations that are not as satisfactory as those on the ground would like to see them.

Some disturbing reports have come in from the northwestern wheat producing section, and it is the understanding that Hoover has been urged by some of his advisers to make a personal visit to that territory during his trip home to visit speaking preferably at the Twin Cities of Minnesota. Others suggest that he make St. Louis the principal point of call, but the nominee is withholding a decision pending later reports from western headquarters.

Protect Public in Muscle Shoals. Amplifying one section of the speech he delivered last Saturday at Elizabethport, the Republican standard bearer, in a formal statement made public last night, said he entirely agreed with the proposals to dedicate the great government plant at Muscle Shoals to agriculture and the disposition of the surplus power on "such terms and conditions as will safeguard and protect all public interests."

He declared there was no question of government ownership about Muscle Shoals as the government already owns both the power and the nitrate plants. He added that the Republican administration has recommended that it be "dedicated to agriculture for research purposes and development of fertilizers in addition to its national defense reserve."

Hoover's statement was supplementary to his declaration in the Elizabethport speech that there are local interests where the government must enter the business field as a by-product of some great major purposes such as improvement in navigation, food control, scientific research or national defense, but that there did not vitiate the general policy against any general extension of the federal government into the operation of business in competition with its citizens.

Philip Schantz Dies at Highland

Had Been Ill Since Saturday—Served as Sheriff and County Treasurer and Had Many Other Activities. Funeral Thursday Afternoon at His Late Residence.

PHILIP SCHANTZ.

Philip Schantz, for many years one of the outstanding figures in the public life of Ulster county, died at 3 o'clock this morning at his home in Highland. Mr. Schantz last Friday complained of feeling ill, and had been confined to his home since Saturday. Intestinal trouble was said to have caused death. Funeral services will be held from the late residence in Highland on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

A long life filled with kind and ever-ready willingness to help a friend is the best description that can be given of Mr. Schantz, or "Phil," as he was more often and most affectionately called by hundreds of men throughout Ulster county. Mr. Schantz was born in the town of Lloyd on June 6, 1858, and had always made his home there. No man in any community had worked with greater devotion to the interests of his native place, and few men of greater public spirit could be found anywhere. His education was received in the district school and at Fort Edward Institute in Washington county.

Learned Trade of Miller. After leaving school, Mr. Schantz learned the trade of miller with his father, and then for seven years worked for George W. Pratt, whose partner he became for the next 20 years. He had ever since been engaged in the milling and ice business, and his efforts to build up the village of Highland and the town of Lloyd were unceasing. Many years of his life was spent serving the people of the town of Lloyd as supervisor. For many years he had been the unanimous choice of the town, whose residents, regardless of political affiliation in other matters, recognized the value of his services to his town and to the county of Ulster and in this way sought to continue at the head of their government a man in whose ability and integrity they had the highest confidence.

Dates Do Not Express Activities. A mere recital of dates fails to express the activities of Mr. Schantz or his record of work for the public and for individuals everywhere. Few men can be found whose lives are so full of activity. There is no "Phil" Schantz has done. There is no community in Ulster county that has not some residents who can testify to his practical assistance. Such is the human side of the man. There is another side, and that is indicated by his public service and the invaluable experience he had gained in his long and honorable public life. As a member of the board of supervisors, as Republican leader of that body and as chairman of the board he acquired a more intimate and broader experience in county affairs than almost any other man.

Recognized as Republican Leader. For years Mr. Schantz was recognized as the leader of the Republican party in southern Ulster. Not only had he served the county most efficiently as a member of the board of supervisors, but in 1894 he was elected sheriff of Ulster county. He also served as county treasurer, having been elected in 1910.

Socially, Mr. Schantz was identified with a number of fraternal organizations, including the Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Masonic fraternity from the Blue Lodge in the Shrine, Red Men, Elks, and he was an honorary member of the G. A. R.

Mr. Schantz was married on March 8, 1880, to Martha S. Cusick of Poughkeepsie and they had one son, Gustav Schantz, born in 1900.

In the death of Mr. Schantz, Ulster county has lost one of its most representative citizens; a man whose activities in public, social and civil life set a high ideal.

Merchants Busy Cards and Yanks To Win Prize for Practice as the Dress Up Week Sun Beats Down

Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock the merchants of the city were busy with the preparation for the annual display of the Ulster County Business Men's Association. The display will not be opened to the public for it is the annual competition for the cup which is awarded each year. This year there is great rivalry between the merchants who are all attempting to win the much coveted cup.

Last year the cup was won by the Rose & Gorman department store but it must be won three times by the same firm to become its property. In addition to the cup there will be a blue ribbon for second prize, red ribbon for third prize, and six white ribbons for honorable mention. The judges will judge windows from a standpoint of pulling power, attractiveness of display, color harmony and also thought and time given. A system of points will be used for the various things taken in consideration.

200,000 Reported Massacred by Fanatic Moslems

New York, Oct. 9 (AP).—Dr. S. Parker Cadman, chairman of the China Famine Relief Organization in New York city, received information today of the massacre of about 200,000 persons by fanatic Moslems in Kansu province, China.

Dr. Cadman received a letter from Leighton P. Rand, China Inland Mission, at Lanchowfu, Kansu, China, depicting the horrors of the situation, which he says have been intensified by an insurrection of the Moslems, who form a third of the population of the province.

Though starting in the appearance here and there of unorganized robber bands, it has spread like wild fire, the letter said, "and has now become just such a Mohammedan rebellion as had on several previous occasions in the past century laid waste the province and decimated its population."

From reports already in from the county districts, the letter to Dr. Cadman continued, "the known dead exceed 200,000. A similar tolling of villages pillaged and burned and those inhabitants who escaped with their lives being without food or clothing."

"Isolated in the extreme northwest of China," Mr. Rand's letter said, "little news reaches the outside world of this region, especially so of late as military censorship has allowed little to filter through revealing unfavorable conditions. This enormous province is barren and desolate except for certain valleys where the ten million inhabitants live from hand to mouth. Beginning with the terrible earthquake last year which killed 35,000 and a succession of droughts, the province is now in a state of abject poverty. The calamities has visited Kansu. With this spring's rains, the crops failed, the drought being so severe that in over fifty of the seventy odd districts famine conditions already prevail. In few places have conditions permitted the planting of the fall crops and it seems certain that what food supplies exist will be exhausted by mid-winter, and millions will face starvation."

Herb Penneck, the famous Yankee left-hander, made his first appearance of the pitching hill when he took over the delivery for batting practice from Ryan. The slim southpaw who has been kept out of active combat by neuritis, twisted easily but with very little strain. His delivery offered a good workout, however, because of its similarity to that of Sherdel, whom the Yankees expected to face in earliest later.

Officer Jones was sent to the scene with the riot gun and shot the dog, which bore no license tag although the animal wore a collar.

Tokyo, Oct. 9 (AP).—Twenty fishing craft were missing and three Japanese freighters, the Oyama Maru, the Fukei Maru and the Hukiyama Maru, were reported today to be in distress off the east coast of Japan after a typhoon which swept the region last night.

Warcraft was ordered from the Yokosuka naval station to assist the vessels.

Each Thousand in Short Socks. For fourth game at St. Louis—And make caps to fight on Practice—Yankees First on Field.

St. Louis, Oct. 9 (AP).—The Yankees today were in short socks for the fourth game of the series with the Cardinals. The team's manager, Joe Judge, said that the team was in short socks for the fourth game.

The Cardinals, their spirits seemingly revived by a day of rest, came on the field shortly before noon for practice, but some of the Yankees had beaten them to it. The red birds acted as though they had forgotten or were trying to whistle away those three straight defeats and stop the onrush of the Yankees.

The New Yorkers were just as confident they would deliver a parting salvo of base hits and make it a clean sweep.

The field dried off nicely under the boiling sun. The bleachers were a glare of white shirts, punctured by varicolored parrots as the early crowd was entertained by the band, led by Al Schacht and supported by Nick Altrock's antics.

There was no wild rush toward the turnstiles, however, when the gates opened at 3:20 a. m. and there was plenty of unoccupied space in the covered bleachers of the Yankees.

The advance guard of the Yankees, who seemed anxious to get it over with, was the first on the field, led by Tom Zachary and Harry Matthews, the bull pen catcher. Manager Miller Huggins, in muffled, took a preliminary survey of the situation two hours before the game.

Shortly afterward, Jack Onslow, Cardinal coach, led the home boys out in spig and span new uniforms and the first cheer went up. The extra day of rest gave time for the new outfits to be fixed up. They failed to fit when the players first tried them on Sunday.

The Cardinals had a prolonged batting drill, the snappers they have yet had, and a lot of trial base hits rattled against the ramparts.

The Yankee maulers had their turn at the plate with Henry Johnson on the mound taking the punishment. Henry almost came to an untimely conclusion when he barely avoided absorbing a terrific drive from Ruth's bat. The Babe then belted one clear over the roof of the right field stands, besides hitting two of the highest and longest fouls ever seen at Sportsman's Park. This was enough for Johnson. He lost control and Henry Bill Ryan went into the box. Ryan also was wild and almost beamed Bob Meusel.

The crowd was still alive in arrival, a contrast with the usually pervading atmosphere of a world's series game.

Herb Penneck, the famous Yankee left-hander, made his first appearance of the pitching hill when he took over the delivery for batting practice from Ryan. The slim southpaw who has been kept out of active combat by neuritis, twisted easily but with very little strain. His delivery offered a good workout, however, because of its similarity to that of Sherdel, whom the Yankees expected to face in earliest later.

HERBERT HOOVER

(Extract from the book published by The Century Co.)

XIII. The Armistice; and a New Crisis.

The story of Herbert Hoover's fame is curious, unique. In August, 1914, he was the eminent engineer, known favorably and widely in his own profession; beyond that, virtually unknown. Thirty months later he was a household word. None other had ever risen so fast and far on the drab wings of modest merit. His basic sanity and soundness, his faculty for inspiring confidence, his energy, his courage in daring an appeal to the volunteer spirit—these qualities and methods had made him a towering figure in the World War.

January, 1918, brought a crisis. In November the Russian revolution had dissolved into bolshevism. No hope from that quarter of further supplies! Even the blinded public saw that spring would break with a supreme make-or-buy offensive on the western front. And allied Europe had fared worse than it expected in conserving and collecting foodstuffs. The submarine sinkings had helped the German cause in that. The allied experts united in a request—almost a demand—for 1,100,000 tons of wheat a month during January and February. Such a quantity was impossible. From the accurate estimates of his own agents Hoover concluded that he could pull them through on between 700,000 and 800,000 tons a month. By superhuman hustling, Hoover kept wheat and beans and bacon, rice and rye and sugar flowing into Europe at the rate of his estimate. Magnificently the American people were controlling appetite, eliminating waste. As we prepared for the harvest of 1918 the food war seemed won: the "Hoover measures" had averted starvation.

Now Hoover foresaw a crisis in the end of the war, whenever it came. Measured by peace standards, we were overproducing. We would have at the armistice an enormous surplus stock of perishable goods. That might bring a great drop in prices and ruin to farmers, millers, packers, middlemen—possibly a financial collapse. On the other hand, the enemy countries had eaten their last reserve, were living on short commons. When the war ended they would be begging for food. There was an outlet to save the American producer while serving humanity.

When the firing ceased, Hoover was already closing up his immediate affairs. A fortnight after he arrived in Paris, authorized by the President to deal with questions of food and provisioning arising under the armistice. He fought now with his back against the wall.

There you were: Germany starved out and still starving; what had been Austria-Hungary in even worse plight; Poland worse off than the Germans; all southeastern Europe hungry and disorganized. Though Hoover had demanded the withdrawal of the blockade on the central empires, the Allies insisted that it must be maintained. In December Hoover proposed an ingenious compromise. Let the Allies relax the blockade as regarded the northern neutrals—Sweden, Denmark, Norway, Holland. They could buy food and exchange it for German products. On December 24 the allied Blockade Council handed Hoover permission to put this plan on foot. Then the military parties put in their oar. On the last day of the year the council reversed itself. They would permit the neutrals to import goods only on pledge against re-export.

The Allies followed this punch in the eye with a swing to the jaw. They cancelled orders for 350,000-400,000 pounds of pork for January delivery. Unless Hoover could manage to sell American pork up to the scale of the repudiated orders, unless beyond that he could open the German and other blockaded markets, the American packers would be unable to buy current hogs; and the farmers would fall in droves. Ruin would go on along the line—first the farmers, then the country banks and then perhaps business in general.

Finding little response from the British, Hoover saw the French and Italians, persuaded or forced them to take their expected quota of 200,000,000 pounds for January—a triumph of sheer power in diplomatic argument. That left the British quota of 160,000,000 pounds on his hands. He had the Grain Corporation buy 100,000,000 pounds. The Commission for Relief in Belgium took 40,000,000 more—all it could carry with justice. He urged our army to buy pork and more pork and in February placed still more with the Grain Corporation and the Belgian Commission.

Then, in March, after other irritating, desperate negotiations, Hoover achieved his greatest triumph of the armistice period. He broke into Germany. This—more importantly—put an end to the starving of women and children in the German cities; but as a corollary, it gave us a full and regular outlet for our supplies.

Why Continue to Patch Up Your Poor Weak Gassy Stomach

Why not look the facts in the face? Relievers for a few hours—but that's all they do—or can do. Continually paying out good money for just a few hours' relief isn't exactly common sense.

Why not get hold of a good prescription—one that not only stops gas, acidity, sourness and indigestion agony in a few minutes, but will also build up your distressed and run down stomach in two or three weeks and put it in such a sound, healthy condition that you'll be able to digest the heartiest meal without the least discomfort?

Why not ask McBride's Drug Store or any druggist anywhere for QUELS—it is the one good remedy that every man or woman who suffers from stubborn, suffocating indigestion needs and ought to have.

If you suffer from obstinate indigestion or acid dyspepsia, why not give QUELS the chance they deserve?—They are not expensive—just a few cents a box.

Start today with this supremely efficient prescription—chew and swallow two QUELS after each meal—as palatable as candy.

And here's something more—if after chewing one box of QUELS you don't say they did more to help your distressed stomach than anything you've ever tried—get your money back. Guaranteed by McCoy's Laboratories, 62 West 14th St., New York. Distributors of McCoy's Tablets, and McCoy's Cod Liver Oil.

The spectre of infidelity casts its menacing shadow over Marian's happy home. What can she do to save her husband from this mad infatuation? Or should she even try...?

ETCHED within her wedding ring were the words "Love Eternal"... and on the page beneath the trembling hand that wrote it was written—"Mr. and Mrs. Frank Keats"! There it was, in Frank's own handwriting—that strong, bold style that so many times had thrilled her very soul, only now—

Oh, the horror of it! And Babs—her cousin and dearest friend, lovely, innocent little Babs—her Frank, and Babs—"Mr. and Mrs. Frank Keats"!

As she read that name, it seemed to Marian she must be drowning... so horribly unreal... and in a vivid flash, bright picture memories of a happiness that was dead. Again she saw herself brushing a rose against his lips and he kissing her... knitting that first tiny pair of baby shoes...

Merciful memories led her home that night!

And then the ordeal! Next day, she watched him coming up the walk, up the steps, in the door... as she would watch a sleepwalker, who treads terrible perils in blind fascination... holding his arms out stupidly.

Her husband! Could she carry out the resolution that the sleepless, feverish night had brought her? Could she—but you will want to read in Marian's own words this tremendous story—with a crisis and an ending that will leave you breathless! A drama of modern marriage such as only true experience can tell!

Don't miss "The Home Breakers"—with 15 other great stories from real life and many exclusive features—in November TRUE STORY. Just out!

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Reception was extremely good Monday afternoon and evening, with very little local interference. The Gray and General Motors programs were especially well received. DX reception seemed limited to Chicago, Detroit and Cincinnati stations. This morning early reception was especially good.

The path of glory seems to have many poor terminal facilities.

ULSTER COUNTY MAD FOUR INCORPORATIONS

In Ulster county, four companies incorporated last month with an aggregate capitalization of $45,000.

A report just issued by Secretary of State Moses shows that out of the 1,519 companies incorporated last month, the real estate business claimed 280 and garment making 40 while there were more than the usual number of companies incorporating for the production of talking movies. Outside of New York city the largest number of companies incorporated from any one county came from Westchester, with a total of 51, Nassau having 41 and Erie 28.

Kissing the hand has been formally incorporated in Yugoslavia's code of gallantry.

Local Hospitals On Approved List

Medical Congress in Boston Announces List for New York State—Hospital Standardization Accomplishment Described.

Both the Benedictine Hospital, with a capacity of 95 patients, and the City of Kingston Hospital with a capacity of 140 patients, are again on the official list of approved hospitals of New York state for 1929, announcement to that effect having been made in Boston on Monday at the eleventh Annual Hospital Standardization Conference of the American College of Surgeons Clinical Congress.

This list is of practical value to every person inasmuch as it will assist them when having to choose a hospital when sick, whether at home or elsewhere in the United States or Canada. It is helpful to young women desiring to take up nursing, and to the young doctor seeking additional training or experience before taking up practice on his own responsibility.

In announcing the list, Dr. Franklin H. Martin, director general of the American College of Surgeons, said:

"To the public the announcement of the Approved List of Hospitals at this season should be one of extreme interest inasmuch as one out of every ten will need the right kind of hospital care before this time next year. The best assurance for this is in the approved hospital with its ethical, competent medical staff, adequate facilities for diagnosis and treatment, and competent supervision over all activities in the best interests of the patient.

Results of Hospital Work.

"Eleven years ago only 89 or 12.9 per cent of the hospitals under survey met the minimum requirements for hospital service as sponsored by the American College of Surgeons and now universally accepted. Today, after eleven years of effort 1,919, or 69.5 per cent have attained a place on the honor roll—the official Approved List. Eleven years ago the patient remained in the hospital 20 to 24 days, on the average, whereas today he remains only 12 to 14 days in the same hospital for the same condition. Eleven years ago 70 to 80 persons per thousand treated in hospital died, whereas today this has been reduced to 29 to 30 on the average in standardized hospitals. Eleven years ago 18 persons out of every hundred undergoing major operations died, but today this had dropped to three or less, due to more competent surgery, and the development of new methods of anaesthesia and improved technique and procedures.

"These are only a few of the wonderful results in scientific medicine which have taken place in recent years and in which hospital standardization has played a leading role, having for its object the right care of the patient through surrounding the doctor, his co-workers and aides with an environment most conducive for the best scientific results.

"Believing that 'adding years to your life and life to your years' is the duty of every doctor and every hospital, the American College of Surgeons has adopted a plan through which the progressive standardized hospital may participate in preventive as well as curative medicine. Hence so much talk of having a physical examination on your birthday, or at least once a year. The 'Health Inventor' in the standardized hospital is placed at the disposal of your family physician where he can give you a complete physical examination once a year at least, doing this in the best environment and with the aid of the hospital facilities and personnel. In this way your doctor and your hospital can 'add years to your life and life to your years.'

Cases Settled In Supreme Court

No cases were ready for trial at the opening of Supreme court this morning and a recess was taken until 2 o'clock. The settlement of No. 296, Christopher Bonneted against David J. Morgan and Harold J. Sheehan, a negligence action, which was ready for trial when court opened but was later settled, left the court without work.

Several other cases were announced as settled on the roll. Among them were:

No. 55, Joseph R. Ross against Leon Washkowsky, Brimmar, Campbell & Elsworth for planning. Paul Fromer for defendant.

No. 255, Giuseppe Casanova against Ulster County Real Estate, a breach of contract action.

No. 267, Robert Knigh, doing business, etc., against David Rosenbium and another, foreclosure of mechanic's lien.

No. 268, Hyman Greenberg against Henry Schupp, money damages, negligence.

No. 40, Mary Wright against Ella DuBois. This action was taken up for trial Monday afternoon but was later settled.

Nos. 47, 48 and 49, actions brought by the Kingston Community Hotel Corporation against E. Otis Van Aken, Matthew H. Cooper, John J. Cucco and Fred H. Hunt, actions on contract, were dismissed with costs on merits. N. H. Fossenden for plaintiff and Frank W. Brooks for defendants.

In an action brought by Harry Jackson against Walter E. Hines, as director general of Railroads, Judge Amos Van Etten moved for a dismissal of the complaint. This action, which grows out of an accident to plaintiff while on his way to the West Shore station in this city in May, 1918, was brought against Hines who was war time director general of railroads. In 1913 an action was commenced. The case hung fire and in May, 1925, it went off the calendar under the strike-off rule. It is not now on the calendar and Judge Van Etten moved for a dismissal. Floyd W. Powell, who now represents Mr. Jackson, opposed the motion on the grounds that he had not been the original counsel but had come in the case later. He asked that he be given time to investigate the case and amend his complaint if necessary. The counsel who originally brought the action is incapacitated.

Mr. Powell's request for a continuance was opposed by Mr. Van Etten, who asked that the case be disposed of now so that the government could clean up the case which under a war time provision was an action against the government director general of railroads.

Judge Smith, however, stated that plaintiff had evidently been lenient in pushing the case to a finish but in view of the fact that he probably had a case he would give him an opportunity to try the action, and continued the action with the understanding that if it is not tried by the December term of court he will enter an order dismissing the complaint.

Jimmie Connors Goes to Albany.

Jimmie Connors, the well-known theatre orchestra leader, is leaving Kingston this week to start on his new position as conductor of the New Kenmore Hotel orchestra at Albany. A few of his old theatre men are going with him. The people of Kingston will miss Jimmie and his boys, as they have been here nearly five years and have grown to be part of the community. They hope he will come back to Kingston some day.

Accepts Position.

Miss Louise Frances Yonke, a graduate of Spencer's Business School and Saugerties High School, has accepted a permanent secretarial position with the General Fire Insurance Agency of DeWitt & Broadway, Inc., with offices at 276 Fair street, Room 4, this city.

Legionnaires' Big Parade Today

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 9 (AP).—Through flag-draped streets of this southwestern city, at whose nearby training camps and army posts many of them first heard the terse command of "Attention", more than ten years ago, 30,000 Legionnaires prepared today to march in review to the accompaniment of martial music from the bands.

The parade, feature and sole business of the second day's program of the tenth annual American Legion convention, was the march that promised to bring the attendance to its peak. Adding to the 60,000 distant visitors estimated to be here now, hosts of south Texas residents poured into the city today.

It was estimated more than three hours would be required for the marchers to pass one of several reviewing stands erected near Texas's Shrine of Patriotism, the Alamo, for General John J. Pershing, Secretary of War Dwight Davis, Field Marshal Viscount Allenby, Major General Henry T. Allen, Commander of the American Army of Occupation in the Rhine, and other distinguished visitors.

Two thousand wounded veterans were given vantage points to view the pageant. Mothers, wives and sisters of the Legionnaires had positions in the line of march.

The march was to climax scores of impromptu and informal parades that have been going on almost continuously since Sunday. Impatient to get at the serious business of passing in review, detached units of fun-seeking soldiers have organized almost hourly to parade the streets and vie for bizarre marching effects.

Rescued Woman From Drowning

J. R. Graham, salesman for the Globe Vacuum Top Bottling Co., of Vineland, N. J., assisted by two ferry employees rescued an unidentified woman, apparently 60 years of age, from drowning in the ferry slip at Poughkeepsie Monday afternoon.

The aged woman, who apparently could not see very well, evidently stepped from the gang plank while boarding the ferry for Highland. Mr. Graham at once directed the two ferry workers to hold him by the ankles so he could be lowered to within reach of the woman. The lady had already gone down once or twice before her rescuer caught hold of her. An ambulance removed her to Vassar Hospital after she had been rescued from the river.

Recover Bodies From Prison Fire

Junction City, O., Oct. 9 (AP).—With 20 prisoners missing, all of them believed dead, and 27 injured, work of recovering charred bits of bodies from the smoking ruins of the dormitory of the Ohio penitentiary brick plant continued today.

Identification of the mutilated remains was practically impossible, so completely had the flames done their work yesterday. Officials in charge, however, believe they had portions of 15 bodies and had identified three.

The injured men had been taken to Ohio Penitentiary Hospital in Columbus last night.

Meanwhile investigation of the blaze proceeded. It seemed fairly well established that defective electric wiring started the fire.

Church's Great Periods

With much diversity of opinion on minor points, there is a general agreement in dividing the history of the church into three great periods. The first, from the birth of Christ to the time of Constantine; the second, from that epoch to the Reformation; and third, from the Reformation to the present time.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 9 (AP).—Extensive readjustment of speculative accounts important in the money market. Large selling orders appeared in a number of the recent gold futures market had shown difficulty in obtaining through their recent high prices, buyers of 2 to 4 points being distributed over a broad list. At the same time, buying operations were conducted in about a dozen specialties which were lifted to new high records.

Call money renewed unchanged at 4 1/2 per cent but the supply was again so plentiful that the official rate was shaded in the "outside market." Bankers predict that the peak of the fall commercial demands will be reached within the next two weeks, after which money rates would be moderately until the holiday demands begin to make themselves felt.

Several of the large commission houses, while agreeing that the fall and winter business outlook is favorable, urged extreme caution in the making of new commitments on the ground that many stocks were still in a weakened technical position. Selling from this source was an important factor in the morning reaction.

Smith to Visit 4 Southern States

Virginia and North Carolina Will Get Their First Glimpse of Democratic Presidential Candidate—First Stop at Richmond.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 9 (AP).—Primed for the second stage of his contest for the Presidency, Governor Smith leaves Albany today for the first leg of a journey that will take him into four southern and southern border states. Only one speech—at Louisville, Ky., Saturday night—will be made this week, however, the other portion of the trip being set aside for train platform receptions and conferences with party leaders.

Virginia and North Carolina will get their first glimpse of the New York executive as Democratic Presidential nominee on Thursday and Thursday night, while Tennessee will have him at the center of a big reception and rally on Friday.

Leaving here by regular train shortly after noon, Governor Smith accompanied by his wife and daughter, Mrs. John A. Warner, a few advisers and a group of newspapermen, was to go first to New York, arriving there around 4 o'clock. Tonight and tomorrow will be given over to callers from the Democratic national committee for any reports they might wish to convey and perhaps a personal visit to the party council center in the General Motors building. No definite program in his native city had been arranged for the nominee.

The trip to Dixie will get under way tomorrow night at 11 o'clock, when the governor, joined by his entire escort, boards his special train at the Pennsylvania station. The nominee's decision to travel through the middle Atlantic sector at night precludes any rear platform appearances along the way until he crosses the Potomac and gets well into Virginia.

Richmond First Stop

It originally was planned to stage a reception in the national capital, but this was discarded and it now is contemplated making Richmond the first stop to greet well wishers. The partial itinerary announced last night by the nominee did not say how long the stops along the way would be, but gave only the following arrival times:

Richmond, 10:15 a. m., Thursday; Raleigh, N. C., 3 p. m.; Greensboro, N. C., 7 p. m.; Salisbury, N. C., 8:30 p. m.; Charlotte, N. C., 9:50 p. m.; Chattanooga, Tenn., 11 a. m., Friday; Nashville, 6:30 p. m.; Louisville, Ky., 10 a. m., Saturday.

The subject of the Louisville address had not been determined definitely today, nor had the itinerary for the trip beyond that city. Commenting on published reports saying he would discuss the tariff in Kentucky, the governor emphasized yesterday at the daily press conference that he had not settled on what his text would be and would adhere to a policy of making no advance forecasts of subjects for any of his campaign speeches.

Governor Smith will spend three hours in Chattanooga in conferences with party leaders and will continue the discussion in Nashville Friday evening. Representative Joseph W. Byrns, from the Nashville congressional district and ranking Democrat on the House appropriations committee, will accompany the nominee on the trip through the south and will have considerable to do with arranging his conferences and receptions in his own state.

Norman H. Davis, New York attorney, also will be in the governor's party when it leaves New York. He was under-secretary of state and an assistant secretary of the treasury in the Wilson administration and is a close friend of the nominee. Only last month the governor visited Mr. Davis's summer home in Stockbridge, Mass., near Albany, for a game of golf.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, Oct. 9 (AP).—State Dept. Agriculture and Markets.—The price trend on Concord grapes was downward on the local wholesale district this morning. Supplies were quite liberal and the demand was less active. Central and western New York, U. S. Grade No. 1 fruit in 12 quart baskets peddled out at 50c-55c. Hudson Valley consignments sold at 50c-55c for the best and as low as 45c on poor.

Little activity was noted on the market for white potatoes. Trading was light but price changes were few and small. Jobbing sales on No. 1 round whites in bulk from the western part of the state were reported at $2 per 150 pounds. Maine cobbles realized $2-2.15 and Green Mountains $2.15-2.35.

Of the 553 cars of potatoes which arrived on the New York city markets during the preceding week, Maine contributed 293, Long Island 259, and upstate New York 1. The remainder was drawn from New Jersey, Idaho and Virginia.

Spinach values were a trifle lower owing to the larger supplies especially from nearby producing points. The demand was moderate. Bushel baskets of Savoy spinach from upstate New York wholesaled at $1-1.25, occasionally as high as $1.50.

Larger supplies of cauliflower, especially from Long Island, weakened the market and prices slumped about 50c per crate. Sales on Long Island cauliflower ranged from $1.25-55, chiefly $3-4. Catskill mountain offerings brought $2-55, mostly $3-50-4.50; Colorado, per crate, $3-55-50.

The onion market ruled rather dull and a weak feeling prevailed except on strictly fancy stock. Receipts were lighter but quite an accumulation was on hand from previous arrivals. Hundred pound sacks of yellow onions jobbed out within the price range of $2-3.75.

New York city during the previous week received about 300 cars of onions. The equivalent of 186 cars was imported from Holland and Spain.

Peach arrivals were lighter from western New York. Nevertheless, prices remained about unchanged in a steady market. Sales on Elberta peaches in bushel baskets were made at $1.50-2.50, principally $1.75-2.

Cardinals Welcomed Day of Rest While Yankees Were Disappointed With Postponement—Plays In Baseball Second Book For Hoyt In Event of Victory.

St. Louis, Oct. 9 (AP).—The New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals today welcomed an opportunity to postpone their world series battle, postponed a day when rain prevented the fourth game yesterday.

For the game that may prove the most important of the series, Manager Hughson and McKechnie selected the same athletes who started the series in New York last Thursday. The Yankees were impatient to get up where they left off Sunday. The Cardinals have not started yet.

With three legs on the world championship cup, the New Yorkers were cheered at the postponement of the fourth game. In the mood of success the American League players were convinced that they could not be stopped and they were dismayed when Commissioner K. M. Landis decided early yesterday that the grounds would be too wet for play in the afternoon.

A warm sun and brisk wind appeared two hours after the "no game today" sign was posted and by game time much of the earlier havoc wrought by the rain had been repaired. Many fans, hungry for a last taste of their sport, were disappointed when told under a beaming sun that baseball was not on the menu for the day.

It was the first postponement of a world series game since 1925.

A huge tarpaulin covering every inch of the infield remained down throughout the night as faithful enthusiasts lined up to buy unserved tickets, and prospects were good that they would not be disappointed for the second time. Weather bureau officials could find no hint of rain in the vicinity of Sportsman's Park as they made their early observations. They noted a pleasing prospect of continued "baseball weather," warm and not too much wind.

The Cardinals welcomed the respite. After losing three games in a row, the National League champions thought any change must be for the better, so they were well content to stand by and hope their rivals might lose some of their steam while waiting for the game the world champions have declared will be the last.

The day of enforced idleness made Manager Bill McKechnie all the more determined to send Bill Sherdel, a crafty but unlucky lefthander, in to pitch. Sherdel has now had four full days of rest, his regular allotment, and while he has yet to win his first world series contest, he has turned in three well-pitched games. He was stopped twice by Herb Pennock, now an inactive Yankee pitcher, in 1925, and Waite Hoyt won a close decision from him in this series. Hoyt will have a chance to shade Bill again today, for he has been made the unanimous choice to do the pitching for the Yankees.

Where Manager Huggins was willing to name the Brooklyn undertaker as one of the two possible pitchers after Sunday's game, he came out flat-footed for his ace today. The New York manager admitted also that his players are anxious to get the business of the moment over. "Of course we want to win this series in four straight games," said Hug. "But doing it is something else again."

Hoyt took opportunity in bulk into the game with him. There are places in the baseball record book reserved for him in the event of victory, among others winning six world series games and capturing two of a series of four, for if Hoyt is returned winner today there will not be any more.

Sherdel cannot compile a record merely by winning, but he can establish himself as a hero, at least temporarily, with a victory. If he can turn back the Yankees with his southpaw shoots, the series will be in action in both games. George Harper, who bats from the left side, got the call for outfield duty from St. Louis, while Ben Paschal and Joe Dugan, orthodox right hand batsmen,

West Pointer to Fight at Armory

Captain Edward C. Lawson, athletic officer of the First Battalion, 150th Field Artillery, has announced that Gene Pointer, West Pointer, will fight at the local armory on Monday, October 15.

The preliminary affair will be a six rounder, that is the tilt is scheduled for the number of rounds mentioned, but according to feeling in the camp of both wrappers the fight will not go to the limit. Local fans know just what Joe Grant is capable of doing. They saw him do away with heavy Van Buren in short order and witnessed his score over several other opponents not to be looked down upon in the ranks of army brawlers.

Sergeant McCabe promises that Gene Pointer will give local fans one of the best exhibitions ever staged in the local drill shed. This soldier has taken on some good boys, although he is young in the game. He has a string of victories credited to him and plans an adding of a new one to his list of conquered mittmen.

The big fracas will be staged between Mickey McVeigh of Newburgh and Eddie Mayo, outstanding battler of the 25th Infantry. This tilt is slated for eight rounds but McVeigh contemplates putting Mayo away as he did Eddie Gillis, also of the colored regiment. The Newburgher knocked Gillis in 54 seconds of the first round at a recent fight here.

Raymond Riordon Here Saturday

Kingston High School football squad will continue practice this week for the game Saturday at the Kingston Fair Grounds against the strong Raymond Riordon eleven.

The local gridder made a great showing against Morris High in their first game of the season and undoubtedly will again display their strength Saturday.

Vince Coffey Now Edge Gone From Navy-Notre Dame Game Saturday

Two Defeats for Midshipmen and Bad Kneeling Suffered by Rockswold Take Glamour Off Battle in Chicago—SUN Comes on Schedule This Week.

New York, Oct. 9 (AP).—It would seem as though the Navy "boat" is not too hard to get.

A few weeks ago, Bill Ingram, in a moment of weakness, broke down and confessed the naval academy never again would have a weak football team and that the Midshipmen, henceforth and forever more, would be an eternal obstacle in the path of aspirants to national championship honors.

Since then several things have occurred to make "Navy Bill's" prediction look a bit bad. The football season is two weeks old and Bill still is waiting for his first victory. As a matter of fact the boys who eventually will go down to the sea in ships still have their first official points to score.

First Little Davis and Elkins came along and sank the Midshipmen in several fathoms of water. As though that were not bad enough, Boston College, with Quarterback Weston in the leading role, added a couple of fathoms to the dose, winning 6 to 0 last Saturday. Weston galloped 25 yards for a touchdown and the only points of the game in the first period.

These two Navy defeats, coupled with the trouncing Notre Dame took from Wisconsin, have taken most of the edge off the battle of Midshipmen and Irish at Soldiers' Field, Chicago, next Saturday. Whatever happens, a national championship scarcely is likely to hinge on the outcome.

Still finding their breathing somewhat difficult, Army's Cadets plan more or less of a holiday when they again take the field. Providence is the next foe and the Cadets are hoping to find the going comparatively easy.

Another hair-raising battle like the one they were forced to go through to down Southern Methodist, 14 to 13, would reduce "Biff" Jones' boys to nervous wreck.

Safely through their initial warm-up battles, Harvard, Yale, and Princeton tackle southern opposition next. At Cambridge, Harvard entertains North Carolina, overwhelmingly defeated by Washington and Lee on Saturday. Georgia, which gave Yale its only setback last season, comes north with what appears to be another great team to meet the Blues.

Princeton, with a powerful and high-scoring squad, takes on Virginia with few equals. The southerners were beaten, 24 to 13, by South Carolina in their last start.

After their week end experience at Nashville, Coigate, it might be thought, would be satisfied to leave the south strictly alone. But the upstart, smarting under their 12-7 stater by Vanderbilt, hope to take revenge upon Virginia. Poly Institute which smashed Hampton-Siders for a 32-7 loss on Saturday. Hampton-Siders, incidentally, is the next opponent "Gloomy Gil" Dobie's improved Cornell squad will tackle.

Two unbeaten teams clash in New York when New York University and Fordham get together. Pittsburgh, co-champions with Yale last year, and unbeaten and unscathed so far this year, gets a thorough test from West Virginia, conquerors of the Haskell Indians last Saturday but conquered by Davis and Elkins in the first game of the season.

Lafayette and Georgetown, leading the east in scoring with 134 and 119 points respectively, should have no trouble adding to their totals. Herb McCracken's Leopards take on George Washington and Georgetown meets Lebanon Valley.

Brown concludes the intersectional slate with a battle against Dayton. Penn State, troubled to beat Gettysburg, may get a surprise from Bucknell, but the rest of the east's big-time teams face comparatively "safe" opposition.

PUNTS AND PASSES

(By The Associated Press.)

Army fat is getting into Yale's class as a football attraction at Cambridge. Harvard announces an over-application for tickets to the Harvard-Army game October 20, first time such a situation has existed except for the Crimson's annual battle with Old Eli.

News item from Columbia: Assistant Coach John Depler went out of his way to praise the Lion's line men for their work in the Vermont game. "You get all the work and none of the credit," Depler told the guards and tackles and the rest of the boys on the forward line. "You were every bit as responsible for that 27-0 score as any man that carried the ball."

In search of a badly-missing scoring punch, "Navy Bill" Ingram has shifted around his naval academy lineup to such an extent for the coming Notre Dame game that his former "first team" is barely recognizable. Whitey Lloyd, backfield star was among those missing in yesterday's varsity practice.

Genius and Reliability The wild force of genius has often been fated by nature to be finally overcome by quiet strength. The volcano sends up its red bolt with terrific force, as it it would strike the stars; but the calm restful hand of gravitation seizes it and brings it to the earth.—Bayne.

to die is a counter claim. Arthur B. Egan appeared for defendant in opposition to the motion. A counter claim is brought to recover damages which grew out of the sale of roofing material to defendant. The action is brought to recover for materials supplied by plaintiff to defendant. The defendant interprets a counter claim as being that roofing materials furnished by a roofing concern was defective. Plaintiff opposes the counter claim on the grounds that plaintiff is not responsible for the work of material furnished in connection with the roof. Defendant moved for judgment on the counter claim, a motion to dismiss was granted. The statute of limitations was pleaded, it being claimed that plaintiff admitted the action arose over a bill for roofing materials due since 1922.

Interesting Action on Note.
In the matter of Minnie Engles against Charles F. C. Mehlis, an action now on the calendar to recover on a note, application was made by defendant to change the place of trial from Ulster to Queens county.

Defendant alleged that the plaintiff is not a resident of Ulster county, where the trial is held, and also asks to change the place of trial on the grounds of convenience of witnesses. The action grew out of a note made in part payment for an alleged "speakeasy".

Minnie Engles, who now holds the note, was not the original payee of the note and seeks to recover the amount due. Letty Lounsbury appears for plaintiff and Abram J. Halperin appears for the defendant. Defendant alleges that the note was given in part payment for a place where liquor was sold in violation of the national prohibition act and that the transaction was therefore illegal and the present holder of the note cannot recover. He alleges that the note of $1,000 was given in part payment for the place of business including furnishings, good will and also a quantity of liquors. Therefore he contends the transaction was illegal and the note therefore cannot be legal. The transaction took place in January, 1928.

Mr. Lounsbury on the other hand contends that the note is legal and the plaintiff resides at Nanapanoch where she took up a residence in February and therefore may bring the action in Ulster county. Opportunity to file affidavits was given and decision reserved. The case which is now on the October calendar will be held pending decision of motion to change place of trial.

FRIEND PAYS TRIBUTE TO MRS. MARY DALY.

(Contributed.)

With the death of Mary Daly on Sunday there ended a life of such quiet influence for good that its force will be most keenly felt now that it has terminated. She possessed qualities which made her beloved by all with whom she came in contact. Her disposition was even, her mind was clean, her loyalty was steadfast, she was diligent, her work placed her always on the fringe of gaiety and turmoil, yet her life kept its quiet serenity in the midst of all excitement.

She knew intimately people in all walks of life, knew their homes and often their family secrets, but no word of hers ever carried news from one place to another. She spoke well of everyone and saw the good in everything. She lived simply and quietly and peacefully, taking joy in her children, her grandchildren and her friends.

Such an example is good for all of us in an age rather given to boast and display. The simplicity of a life splendidly spent in service has left a memory which will glorify the shadow cast by her departure and shine always in the hearts of those she has left behind.

Suit Over Right to Repair Water Line

Woodstock Residents Disagree Over One Party's Right to Enter on Neighbor's Land—Is Slomson Confined to Two-foot Strip?

Judge George H. Smith has been called upon to decide the question as to whether Ira J. Slomson, who has a summer place in the town of Woodstock, has a right to enter upon the premises of Arthur Gardner to make repairs to a water line which runs through the Gardner place.

Some time ago Slomson purchased a parcel of land from Mr. Gardner on the Wittenburg road. At the time a deed was drawn which included a clause that the purchaser had a right of way 24 inches wide over the Gardner lands on which to run and maintain a pipe line from a reservoir to supply water and to have the right to make necessary repairs and to enlarge the reservoir. Judge Smith has been asked to determine whether Mr. Slomson is confined to a two-foot strip in making repairs or whether he has a right to occupy other necessary lands while making the repairs.

F. W. Brooks, who appears for the plaintiff, alleges that the clause gives Mr. Slomson the right to the two-foot strip to maintain the pipe line but that the clause in the deed also gives him additional rights to enter on the lands of Gardner and make repairs. The deed, he contends, gives him the right to enter on the Gardner lands and dig up the pipe line, and he maintains that at that event the wording of the deed has given him the right to operate on more than the two foot strip. He claims the right of way is for two feet but that a further right is given to enter on the Gardner lands in such an event Slomson is not confined to the 24 inch strip but may use necessary land required.

Gardner, it is claimed by Slomson, stopped him from making repairs and relaying the pipe. A temporary injunction was granted by Judge Fowler in county court and an application was made to Judge Smith to continue the injunction during the pendency of the action for any damages which may ensue to the Gardner property by reason of Slomson's activities in relaying the pipe.

Judge Smith continued the injunction and limited the activities of Slomson to such grounds as were necessary in making repairs and relaying the pipe. He expressed his opinion that Gardner could not be damaged beyond such damages as could be valued in dollars and cents, while Slomson would probably be considerably damaged if he were not allowed to lay his pipe line while the weather was favorable. Mr. Gardner contends that Slomson has no right to go on his property except on the two foot strip mentioned in the deed. He says he did not prohibit Slomson from entering on his property but told him to confine himself to the two foot strip. This Slomson claims is impossible while laying the pipe line. A. J. Cook appeared for Gardner.

32 Dead of Poison Liquor

Police Raid 21 Alleged Speakeasies on Lower East Side—Dr. Morris Annals Policy of Government in Using Poison in Denaturing Alcohol.

New York, Oct. 9 (AP).—City and federal authorities joined today in seeking the source of the poison liquor that in three days has taken 32 lives.

Acting under orders from Police Commissioner Warren, police last night raided 21 alleged speakeasies on the lower East Side, in which portion of the city most of the deaths occurred. Samples of the seized liquor were sent to the city toxicologist for analysis.

The owner or person in charge of each place was arrested. A specially qualified investigator with a picked squad was sent out by Major Maurice Campbell, prohibition administrator for this district, to cooperate with the police.

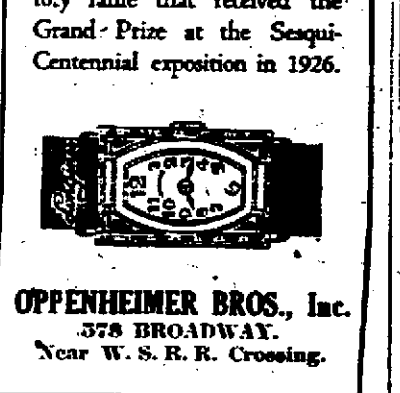

Mayor Walker issued orders that those responsible for the poison liquor be apprehended and prosecuted. He declared its distribution is more than a violation of the Volstead act and amounts to homicide. Meanwhile the bodies continued to pile up at the morgue, where autopsies of ten of the dead had shown that death was caused by drinking wood or denatured alcohol.

The policy of the government in using poison in denaturing alcohol was assailed by Dr. Charles Morris, chief medical examiner of the city. "Drinking is suicide," he said, "but accidental suicide. The ignorant, at least, would be protected as far as possible from poisons. Prohibition is a joke. I invite both presidential candidates to see the noble experiment in extermination."

Flood of Poison Alcohol Loosed.
Dr. Morris was sure that a flood of poison alcohol had been loosed on the lower East Side and that none of the liquor sold in better class speakeasies was responsible for the deaths. "It is too expensive for the poor," he said.

Some of the prohibition agents viewed the exceptional death toll as the first results of their efforts to dry up New York, the drive causing the lower class speakeasies to "cut" their drinks with denatured alcohol which had not been properly treated to remove the poison. The three-day toll in the city surpassed the annual death toll from poison liquor for all but two years since the prohibition law went into effect. Thirty-eight persons died, according to police records, in 1919, and 29 in 1920. Last year there were only 14 deaths.
